Updates from Security Privacy & Live Services

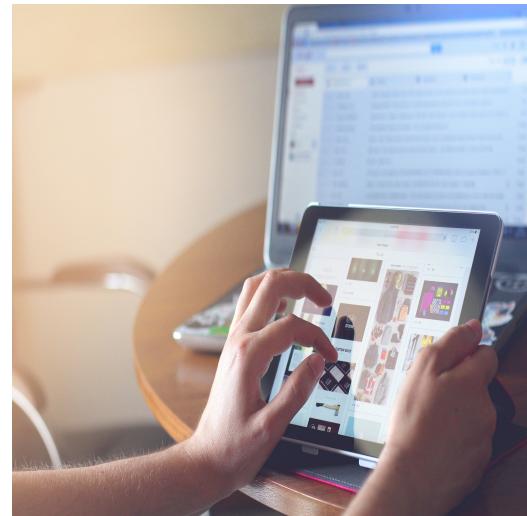

The Security Privacy and Live Services team work hard to keep the Department, its staff and service users, safe and sound. You can play your part by staying up to date with the threats we face and the policies and resources we've developed to tackle these. Everyone has a role in making security or privacy a reality at MoJ, so please do share this e-update with your team.

Security 'One Stop Shop' Created for MoJ

A new security 'one stop shop' has been created in MoJ HQ. As part of a drive to strengthen security behaviours across the department, current policies have been updated to be more accessible and easier-to-follow, and others added to address the changing threat landscape brought on by COVID19. Access via the MoJ HQ intranet here.

Security Awareness sessions

A range of security awareness sessions are now available to employees, contractors, and line managers. These will enable people to understand what role they play in the MoJ's security, and how to keep themselves and their work safe. For more information see the Events page, or email: Dawn Carrington.

New guidance on working overseas

New guidance for working remotely overseas has been produced. The guidance has been produced in relation to COVID19, and relates to both new applications from employees and extending permissions. Read more

Security Vetting

A new SOP report ("MoJ Disco Supervisor") has been created to enable People managers to view vetting information for their team. This will enable them to ensure security clearance for their team is up to date and renew it. Managers are reminded to notify the Cluster Security Unit if there are any changes in personal circumstances.
